

Plant Food That Starts With a Seed

Nature's Source® Plant Foods contain oilseed extract, a renewable source of plant nutrition. Every formulation contains the natural organic compounds found in seeds, which contributes to their performance. Developed to meet the exacting requirements of greenhouse and nursery crops, liquid Nature's Source Plant Foods are ideally suited for efficiently delivering balanced nutrition to fruit and vegetable crops. The plant-friendly, low salt formulations not only feed plants safely, but also provide a source of carbon to encourage beneficial soil microbe populations.

Boosting Nutrient Efficiency

Yield is only one measure of your crop's success. Now more than ever nutrient use efficiency is important, and that's where Nature's Source delivers. Field trials of strawberries and bell peppers have shown that crops grown with Nature's Source® Professional Plant Food 10-4-3, in some cases out yielded and in all trials utilized nitrogen and phosphorous more efficiently than the comparison fertilizer.

Produced Sustainably

You can get all the same results you've come to expect from Nature's Source products from our Nature's Source® Organic Plant Food 3-1-1 while staying compliant with your organic certifications. Nature's Source® Organic Plant Food 3-1-1 is now OMRI Listed, approved by the WSDA Organic Food Program, registered as a CDFA Organic Input Material, and is Certified USDA BioBased.

From its certified zero-waste discharge plant in Sherman Texas, Ball DPF, LLC manufactures Nature's Source Plant Food formulations for specialty agriculture, commercial greenhouse and nursery production, organic production, and retail.

Oilseed Extract®, the basis of all Nature's Source Plant Foods, is sustainable. The seed extract Ball DPF receives is from manufacturers that mill seeds to extract food ingredients. In the process of manufacturing its products, Ball DPF also finds valuable uses for the waste it creates such as a high-protein livestock feed supplement.
